

Survey for the next programme period 2021-2027

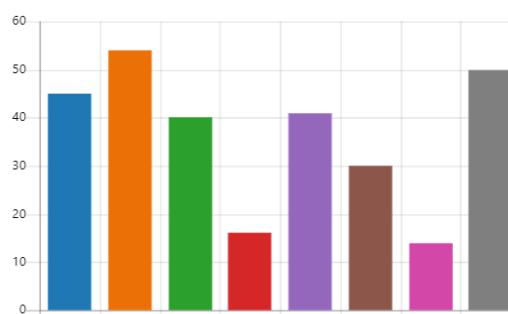

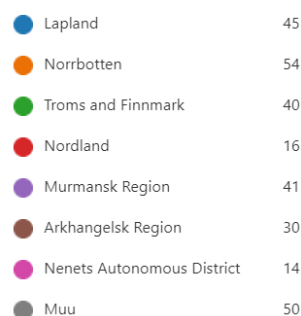

The online survey gathered inputs and opinions from general public for the Kolarctic 2021-2027 programming. 290 people responded to the survey, which was available in four languages. The respondents represented many different organization types, like enterprises, public organizations, educational institutions etc.

Approx. 50% of the answers to the survey came from Higher Educational Institutions. The most chosen themes for the next Programme period according to respondents were; research and innovation, biodiversity and reducing pollution and adaption to climate change. Through the survey, over 120 open comments were gathered on the needs and views of the general public on how the next Kolarctic 2021-2027 Programme will best serve the Programme area.

These opinions will be utilized in the selection of the priorities for the new Programme. We thank all the respondents for their contributions!
